For first time, Cory, Susan lead united opposition against GMA

By Dennis S. Reyes
THE first time that Cory and Susan Aquino-Arroyo have led a united opposition against GMA is a significant development in the Philippine media landscape. The couple, who have been married for over 30 years, have been vocal critics of GMA's coverage of the Aquino-Arroyo family. They have accused GMA of bias and of covering up the family's involvement in various scandals.

Only 3,000 delinquent gun owners sought amnesty

By Crispin, del Pina

MANILA (AP) — Gun owners have avoided the government's amnesty law, but only 3,000 of the 100,000 who applied for it in the Philippines, according to a report by the Philippine National Police and the Department of Justice.

The amnesty law, which was passed by the House of Representatives last year, was supposed to be a "one-time" amnesty for gun owners who applied for it by the end of 2007.

"We are trying to get the amnesty law to be a one-time amnesty, but we are not sure if it will be," said a police spokesman.

Gun owners who applied for the amnesty law were supposed to be given a 10-year amnesty, but only 3,000 of them have applied for it.

Israel reaps dividends of Gaza pullout from Pakistan, Egypt

S. Koreans claim tech may replace silicon chips

TEL AVIV—Israel has been steadily making strategic gains elsewhere within the Muslim world as its pullout from the Gaza Strip, leading international community admiration and respect for the country and its people.

Foreign Minister Shimon Peres said in Tel Aviv that the pullout was a "historic step" toward peace and stability in the Middle East. He said the move would create a "new reality" in the region, one that would allow for a "new era of peace and cooperation."

The move is seen as a "new chapter" in the history of the Jewish state, one that would allow for a "new era of peace and cooperation."

Lebanon charges 4 generals in Hariri murder

BEIRUT—Lebanon's parliament on Monday charged four senior military officials with the assassination of former prime minister Rafik Hariri, a move that could lead to a military trial.

The parliament's decision, passed by a vote of 115 to 10, came after a series of investigations by the UN and the Lebanese judicial system. The four officials charged are:

- Gen. Michel Aoun, former commander of the Lebanese Army.
- Gen. Elias Haddad, former commander of the Lebanese Army.
- Gen. Samir Sami Haddad, former commander of the Lebanese Army.
- Gen. Joseph Aoun, former commander of the Lebanese Army.

The charges are based on evidence linking the four officials to the assassination of Hariri, which took place in Beirut on Feb. 14, 2005. Hariri was a prominent figure in Lebanese politics and a member of the Hariri family, which has been a major political force in Lebanon for decades.

The parliament's decision is a significant step in the investigation of the Hariri assassination. It shows that the Lebanese judicial system is willing to hold high-ranking officials accountable for their actions. The trial of the four officials is expected to be a major event in Lebanese history.

Newborns disappearing in Ukraine, says envoy

KYIV—A Ukrainian envoy to the United Nations on Monday said that newborn babies were disappearing in Ukraine, a claim that drew sharp criticism from the UN and other international organizations.

The envoy, who spoke at a press conference in New York, said that he had received reports from Ukrainian officials that newborn babies were being taken away from their parents and sold on the black market. He said that the babies were being taken away from their parents in the first few days of their lives and that they were being sold to other people for a large sum of money.

The UN and other international organizations have expressed concern about the envoy's claims. They have said that there is no evidence to support his claims and that they are likely to be unfounded. They have also said that they are working to investigate the claims and to take action if they are found to be true.

Britain urges ban on terror incitement

LONDON—Britain's Foreign Office on Monday urged the United Nations to ban the incitement of terrorism, a move that could lead to a new international treaty.

The Foreign Office said that it was concerned about the increasing number of terrorist attacks around the world and that it was urging the UN to take action to prevent such attacks. It said that it was urging the UN to ban the incitement of terrorism, which is the act of encouraging or inspiring people to commit terrorist acts.

The UN has already taken steps to prevent terrorism, but the Foreign Office said that it was not enough. It said that it was urging the UN to take more action, including the banning of terrorism incitement. It said that it was urging the UN to take action to prevent terrorism and to protect the lives of innocent people.

Saddam trial to begin after Oct. 15 vote

BAAGDAHD—Iraq's interim government on Monday said that the trial of Saddam Hussein would begin after a vote on Oct. 15.

The interim government said that it was planning to hold a trial of Saddam Hussein for the crimes he committed during his rule in Iraq. It said that the trial would begin after a vote on Oct. 15, which would determine whether the trial should proceed.

DVD format war looms as Blu-ray backers plan launch

LOS ANGELES—The DVD format war is heating up as Blu-ray backers plan to launch their format in the fall, a move that could lead to a new standard for home video.

The Blu-ray backers, including Sony, plan to launch their format in the fall. They say that their format is superior to DVD because it offers higher quality video and audio. They say that their format is also more compact than DVD, which makes it easier to store and transport.

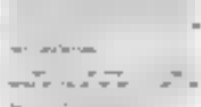

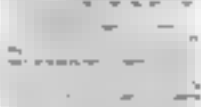

Figure 1. Schematic representation of the experimental design. The figure is divided into two main sections: 'Pre-test' and 'Main test'. The 'Pre-test' section shows a sequence of events: a subject is presented with a stimulus (a word or picture), they respond, and then they receive feedback. The 'Main test' section shows a sequence of events: a subject is presented with a stimulus, they respond, and then they receive feedback. The figure also includes a legend for the symbols used: a box for 'Stimulus', a circle for 'Response', and a triangle for 'Feedback'.

The figure consists of two side-by-side line graphs. Both graphs have 'Rate of reaction' on the y-axis and 'Temperature' on the x-axis. The left graph shows a curve that starts at a low rate at low temperatures and rises very steeply as temperature increases, indicating a high activation energy. The right graph shows a similar curve, but it rises much more gradually with temperature, indicating a lower activation energy.

Plan to pull out troops from Iraq questioned

By William H. McGraw
Sept. 10, 2009

WASHINGTON — The White House's plan to pull out all U.S. troops from Iraq by the end of 2011 is being questioned by some senior administration officials, according to a new report from the Washington Post.

The report, which was obtained by the Post, says that some officials are concerned that the plan is too ambitious and that it could lead to a premature withdrawal of troops.

The report also says that some officials are concerned that the plan could lead to a loss of control over the situation in Iraq.

The report says that the White House is currently reviewing the plan and that it may be revised in the coming months.

Incoming CBCP head urges day of prayer

By Michael J. Sauter
Sept. 10, 2009

MANILA, Philippines — The incoming head of the Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines (CBCP) has urged a day of prayer for the Philippines.

The CBCP's new president, Cardinal Jaime Sin, said that the Philippines is in a "critical moment" and that a day of prayer is needed to seek God's help.

Cardinal Sin said that the Philippines is facing many challenges, including poverty, corruption, and natural disasters.

He said that a day of prayer would be held on September 11, 2009, and that all Filipinos are encouraged to participate.

Cardinal Sin said that the day of prayer is a chance for the Filipino people to unite in prayer and to seek God's help for the Philippines.

Mayor, residents drawn to battle of maps

By Michael Sauter
Sept. 10, 2009

MANILA, Philippines — A battle of maps is being fought in Manila, Philippines, as the city's mayor and residents dispute the city's boundaries.

The battle of maps is a result of a dispute over the city's boundaries, which has led to a series of legal battles.

The city's mayor, Antonio Trillanes IV, has been fighting a long battle to expand the city's boundaries.

The residents of Manila, however, are opposed to the expansion of the city's boundaries.

Pre-construction works to start for South highway

MANILA, Philippines — Pre-construction works for the South Luzon Expressway (SLEX) are set to begin soon.

The project, which is a part of the Philippine Department of Transportation's (DOTr) infrastructure program, is expected to be completed by 2015.

The project will involve the construction of a new highway that will bypass the existing SLEX, which is often congested.

The new highway will be 100 kilometers long and will have four lanes in each direction.

The project is expected to cost $1 billion and will be funded by the DOTr and the Philippine government.

The project is expected to improve traffic flow and reduce travel time for commuters in the South Luzon region.

PNOC to pursue Malampaya project

By Gerald L. Ne...

MANILA, Sept. 1 (AP) — The Philippine National Oil Company (PNOC) is planning to pursue the Malampaya gas field project, a major offshore gas field in the Philippines, despite the fact that the project has been controversial for years. The project has been the subject of a long-running legal battle between the PNOC and the Philippine government, with the government arguing that the project is a violation of the country's environmental laws. The PNOC, however, insists that the project is a necessary part of the country's energy development and that it will comply with all applicable laws. The project is expected to be completed by 1995 and will provide a significant source of gas for the Philippines.
